

Killing the Calves

—All sorts of excuses are offered for the high price of beef, the most plausible being the alleged demand for veal—"the killing of calves which should be allowed to grow into regular beef." You cannot have beef if you eat it as "veal," but you can have Shredded Wheat Biscuit which contains more real nutriment than beef and costs much less. Shredded wheat biscuit is the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked. Make it your "meat" for ten days and see how much better you feel. Wholesome and strengthening for any meal with milk or cream or in combination with fruits. Made at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Some candidates for office inspire confidence, unimpaired by partisan motives, neither are they guided by the faintest odors of the political "bean pot." They have no axes to grind for themselves, but rather, would use all their energies in sharpening the tools of their particular trust, in order that they may have straighter to the line of efficiency in public office. There is one man in particular who deserves the support of every voter of Maricopa County, regardless of party or political prejudice. Such a man is O. H. Loch, candidate for the office of County Assessor on the republican ticket.

Mr. Loch was born and reared on a farm in Pawnee County, Nebraska, thus bearing all the characteristics of the typical virtue of the West. In his younger days he taught school in his home community, afterwards serving several years as assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Pawnee City. On his business record with this financial institution, he was subsequently elected County Treasurer of Pawnee County, later being re-elected to this responsible position. How well he served in these positions is attested by the fact that he has recently received communications from his native city, asking him to return and take charge of a newly organized banking institution. He declined, however, preferring to remain in this county, where the last ten years of his life have been spent. His record for honesty and business integrity has asserted itself among all those with whom he has come in contact. For the first three years of his life among us, he was engaged in the banking business in this city, and the remainder he has devoted to real estate, loans and insurance. Thus his varied business career has fitted him for the position he is to occupy in county affairs. His platform is "a square deal for every taxpayer," to quote from his own words: "I stand for an equitable assessment of all classes of taxable property on fair cash valuations." If you, voters of Maricopa County, sincerely believe that a straightforward business man should occupy the office of assessor and honestly desire a square deal elect O. H. Loch and he will do the rest.—Adv.

GEN. HAIG SENDS OUT MORE REPORTS

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
LONDON, Nov. 1.—In a further review of the operations on the British front in France and Belgium dated today, General Sir Douglas Haig, the British commander, reports:

"Since my last review, October 19, the weather has been unfavorable to extended operations. Such conditions hamper military operations seriously, but during the past fortnight we have made progress and advanced our front towards Butte de Warlencourt, in the neighborhood of Gueudecourt and Les Bœufs.

"From October 20 to 22 weather was dry and fine. We took advantage of this change to deliver between Schwaben redoubt and Le Sars, a very successful local attack. Schwaben redoubt, which is on the high ground of a ridge due north of Thiepval has been, with the exception of the northeast corner, in our hands since September 28. From it trenches called Stuff and Regina run due east some 5000 yards to a point about 1200 yards northeast of Courcellette.

"The enemy defended these trenches with tenacity. A captured German regimental order dated October 20, emphasized the necessity of regaining Schwaben redoubt, which is the pivot of the position. The order says: 'The men are to be informed that this attack is not merely a matter of retaking the former German trench, but of the recapture of the extremely important point involved.'

"Since his loss of the main portion of Schwaben redoubt, the enemy delivered eleven counter attacks on our front in that neighborhood. In every case he was repulsed.

"Early in the morning of the 21st he attacked Schwaben redoubt, as already reported. We replied to an attack delivered against the whole length of Regina redoubt and pushed our advance posts well to the north and northeast of Schwaben redoubt taking in the course of the operations nearly 1,100 prisoners.

"The Canadians and the troops of our new army deserve great credit for their signal and most economical victory.

"During the period we carried out many raids on the enemy trenches, from which useful results were obtained. Towards the end of the month the enemy artillery became more active and enemy aeroplanes more in evidence.

"The captures during the fortnight brought the total prisoners taken in the Somme battle fields to 11,132."

DEUTSCHLAND'S LITTLE CARGO WORTH $10,000,000

The Deutschland is sealed, the latter said.

The Deutschland is shrouded in strict secrecy. The walls of the shed which houses her return cargo, supposed to be rubber and nickel, form a protection at each side. A fence surrounding a pontoon shuts off the entrance to the Thames river, and on the fourth side the North German Lloyd steamer Wilhelm acts as a barrier and as a home for the Deutschland's crew. Only a guard on the decks remained aboard the submarine tonight. Captain Koenig and his twenty-eight men having removed their effects to the rouler steamship.

The mariners of this old time whaling port discussed with admiration today the feat of Captain Koenig in bringing his vessel into this port without a pilot in the darkness of night and of fog. The ship into which he poked the Deutschland without assistance is a mile from the mouth of the Thames river, almost to the railroad bridge from which the Harvard Yale crew races have been started or finished for years. The chart which he used was drawn in 1846, he said. The captain learned that he could slip out to sea entirely under water, if he wished. "We'll go out in daylight and we will not have to submerge so soon," he remarked.

Describing a visit to the German army headquarters on the east front, where he was the guest of the Kaiser at Arras, Captain Koenig said he found the emperor in good health, "a little white and drawn but not at all weak." He found the German people during his stay, he said, believing the war would last at least another year. From the emperor the Deutschland's captain received the knighthood cross of the order of Hohenzollern from the king of Bavaria, the order of St. Michael from the king of Wurtemberg, the knighthood cross of the Wurttemberg crown, and from the rulers of two minor German states crosses of honor.

WOMEN BREAK TRUCE

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
LONDON, Nov. 1.—Two suffragettes were arrested at midnight Tuesday while hurling stones through five of the windows of the home office and the Colonial Office in Whitehall. The stones bore such inscriptions as "down with Grey," "down with Haldane," and "Romania must not be sacrificed." The public prosecutor asserted that the offenders acted in violation of the truce between the government and the leaders of the suffrage movement for the duration of the war. The court postponed their cases to a later date.

GIRL FROM U. S. A. FAILS TO PLEASE OR TO EVEN AMUSE

By Sally Jacobs

The manager of the Orpheum theater of Placerville, solicited the Phoenix Amusement Company that "The Girl from the U. S. A." was a worth while show. He admitted in his telegram that he had been stung twice this season but that when a good show came the management should know it. It is the one redeeming thing about last night's performance that the Elks' management did not know what it had booked.

The manager of the Orpheum belongs to the most jealous profession in the world and we would rather believe that he was moved by the spirit of revenge or the remembrance of the fact that he had been twice stung and wanted to see the other fellow get it, than to believe that a Placerville audience would and could sit through the mixture of melodrama and madness that was presented at the Elks last night.

There was faint applause in the back of the house after the first act and after that a cold politeness tempered with an occasional giggle. Senator Mark A. Smith was the guest of honor at a box party and not a few cast amused glances at his hosts who chanced to be clever enough to take the whole thing with good grace.

A particularly good play gives an audience a certain amount of pleasure in the pardonable pride it takes that it does not have to tolerate that sort of thing. But the three acts given last evening were so wholly bad that even this small concession was denied.

The first act was laid in Japan. It was a barren Japan without a solitary cherry blossom and a Japan without pidgin English, but that forgotten detail came to one of the principals later in the evening and she attempted to cover her former mistake.

The "miller-drammer" was well nothing like it has been seen or heard since the days of the old Park theater and it is a line on the actors of those days to make the comparison. The costumes however were surely handed down from that particular time.

There were pretty and popular songs, cruelly treated. There was not a voice in the company and treatment received by Simple Melody and Yanka-Hula would not let us remain for Mother's Rosary and Dixie Land.

There was a chorus of five. A neighbor with a program declared that the center young woman was shadow-boxing whatever that is. Certainly the chorus was distinctive for there's not another girl like any of those five in the whole U. S. A.

PRES'T WILSON HAS NEW TEST OF PATRIOTISM

It is only by the intricate intertwining of strings of the heart that a nation is to be bound together.

"The one thing I do not want men to differ with me about is love for America. The great challenge to the people of the United States now is to cultivate unity of spirit."

"It is remarkable how grateful the skilled workers of this country are when you do them the justice," the president said. "I am ashamed when I do them more justice to have them come and thank me. Political parties are very much interested in the workmen when election comes around, because they know they are in the majority. I want to help them after the election. I want to have the federal treasury help them to get vocational education."

"One of the things I want to take part in is the rectification of the processes of our courts. The processes are too complex. The trouble is with the judges and lawyers. Most of them, not all of them, want to do justice. But it is necessary to go through a mass of procedure."

"We have heard a good deal recently about the eight-hour day. One of the things that interests me about it is not merely that it means justice, but that it means health and happiness. I am in favor of it just as far as it can be made to work. It increases the physical vitality of workers."

"After it is done everybody will have profited. The men who oppose it do not know what makes the heart work. They only know what makes the spleen work."

"I am impatient that the talk which has got to last until next Tuesday should be over."

"Some of the men now most vocal in criticizing the things done in the last three and a half years were formerly the men who helped to do those things. They have not been rational since last June."

"We are not going to be drawn into quarrels which mean nothing to us. We are not interested in seeing one nation or group of nations prevail against another."

"We are not afraid to fight and we are not disinclined to fight for the things that America stands for."

"We are waiting for the call we have always waited for. We have fought for humanity. God forbid that we should ever fight for self satisfaction or for aggression."

In his night speech President Wilson said in part:

"I have come here for the purpose of giving myself the pleasure of discussing some of the purposes of interest of the great country which we love. The interest of a campaign is largely ephemeral. It centers too much in party passion."

"I want to warn you, my fellow citizens, against any sort of division, whether of interest or of party, which divides you in feeling. I am ready to give nightly challenge to any man who differs with me in opinion but the one thing I wish him not to differ with me about is love of America."
